

DAN'S FUND FOR BURNS

Newsletter 2008

MESSAGE FROM POLLY BROOKS, CHAIRMAN

2007 was an extremely busy year for both Dan's Fund for Burns and for myself personally. In July, I successfully completed my interior design degree, in August I was thrilled to get married to Andy and in December we were blessed with the safe arrival of our first child, Lawrence Brooks. Sadly, with so much going on in my personal life, there was limited time in my schedule to repeat the major events seen in 2006, the Rugby and Black Tie Fund Raisers. Please don't worry though: as I am starting to adjust to motherhood, my mind turns to gearing up to planning the next dinner, likely in 2009 (please get in touch if you'd like to help either on the committee or could help donate prizes/sell tables/sponsor us).

Meanwhile, I'm delighted to say that our Surrey and Kent fund-raising committees have been hard at work raising funds for DFFB in 2007, along with many of our other supporters who have continued to fund-raise on our behalf. Also many of our wedding guests were kind enough to donate to the Fund as a wedding present, so thank you for that.

The Fund has been successfully managed by Joy Huston, who has been hard at work running the Charity whilst I was occupied with all of the above. I remain, however, Chairman of the Charity and involved in its work. I have kept very much in touch and my dedication to the Fund remains as strong as ever. My burns will never leave me and therefore I know full well how much we need to support those who have suffered such horrendous pain and scarring. I am still actively helping to run the Chelsea & Westminster Support groups which are not only valued greatly by those who attend, but by myself as a burns survivor.

The Burns world is small and expensive and thus it is vitally important that we help where we can. As I write this message, I hear on the radio that a worker on Regent Street has been badly burned today in an electrical accident. It is unfortunately an everyday reality for some and ahead of him there will be a long haul to recovery. I am just very pleased that we are able to help others through very tough times in an immediate, practical way. I am living proof that recovery can be achieved with help, love and support.

Thank you all for your continued interest and support. It is amazing to me that five years on, friends continue to contact me wanting to help raise money for the charity and the important work we do makes all the hard work worth while. I hope you'll forgive me for not arranging anything major last year and for not being in touch as much as I wanted to, but things were a little hectic for a while. I look forward to contacting you in the future about the next Black Tie Dinner and will be in touch when I can.

For now though, please read on to see how important our work is and how much good your contributions bring to those in need.

STOP PRESS – I am thrilled to announce that our fund-raising has now surpassed the £1million mark. This is a remarkable achievement in a little over five years. Your contributions and hard working fund-raising efforts, both large and small, have all made this possible. Our most sincere thanks and immense gratitude to each and all!

Thank you to all and best wishes for 2008,
Polly

WHERE HAVE YOUR 2007 CONTRIBUTIONS GONE?

With the generosity of so many, DFFB has been able to aid a number of individuals as well as assist in the improvement of some Burns Units around the country:

Glasgow

During the summer of 2007 a group of Dan's friends undertook an arduous cycle ride from John O'Groats to Lands End, to raise funds. En route they stopped at the Canniesburn Plastic Surgery and Burns Unit, Glasgow Royal Infirmary, Glasgow. Here our bikers handed over a cheque for £4,000 towards equipment for a new rehabilitation room. A further £6,000 was pledged towards the purchase of a video microscope. A brief description of this amazing trip and fund-raising can be found later on in the Newsletter.

Queen Victoria Hospital, East Grinstead

DFFB funded the purchase of a 3.1 Mesher in the amount of £4,436, for use when grafting burns patients. The 3.1 meshed graft gives a much better cosmetic result whilst making best use of the skin obtained. This is now in place and as reported from the Hospital, "The purchase of this equipment will have a positive impact on patient outcome from a cosmetic perspective and Mr. Gilbert, our Burns Surgeon, is really thrilled with your generosity".

Frenchay Hospital, Bristol

DFFB received a request for monitoring equipment for the 6 bed high dependency burns unit. Fixing monitoring equipment to each bed greatly reduces infection by being able to more practically control infection issues. The monitor is also able to record blood pressure, pulse, E.C.G. and oxygen saturation levels.

The monitoring equipment

Demonstration by Sister Lesley Burden of monitoring equipment, with Rosemary Derby

DFFB funded this equipment, to a cost of £12,000. The equipment has now been installed and Mrs. Rosemary Derby, together with Peter Derby and Joy Huston visited the Burns Unit to formally hand over the monitors, which were gratefully acknowledged by Hospital staff. DFFB has also been able to assist several burns survivors treated at the Frenchay Burns Unit.

Chelsea & Westminster, London

DFFB continues its commitment to funding Lisa Williams' position as Clinical Psychologist. Lisa's report follows:

Next month will mark two years in the past and the beginning of the third and final year of Dan's Fund's contracted support for this service. The service is now well established and referrals this year already show a 10% increase on the first year. Uptake of the service remains very high, at 95.5% in 2007 versus 94% in 2006. We continue to see a broad and diverse range of people and issues. Appearance concerns are by far the single most common reason for referral (30%). The next most common category is trauma (16%) which when combined with the more severe post traumatic stress disorder and its early variant, acute stress reaction, represents 25% of referrals.

Dan's Fund is a national charity and although I am based in London at the Chelsea & Westminster, I have been able to offer some support and advice to people elsewhere. I thought it might be interesting to illustrate some of the concerns expressed by adults with burns, even years after their injury. Clinical psychology can seem a bit mysterious at times and it is of course highly confidential by its nature. I therefore want to thank Paula (not her real name) for giving permission for this information to be published in this newsletter.

Dan's Fund was contacted via the website by a young pregnant woman living in a remote part of the UK without access to local burns services. She received major burns as a young child and wears a full wig. Towards the latter months of her pregnancy she began to become fearful of how her baby might respond to how she looked and whether the child would become confused about her wig. I offered to discuss things on the phone with her but she did not want to do this and asked if we might enter into an email correspondence. Here are some extracts of our correspondence:

Paula: "My immediate concern is getting to know my baby which sounds really stupid, I should be looking forward to it and I am but I am also worried. I think the biggest fear is that it will be scared of me because most young children are because they don't understand. That is the worst thing because until it is a bit older I won't be able to explain anything to it. I am worried it will realise I don't look right when it sees the rest of our friends and family."

"I don't know if I should show the baby both sides of me from the start or should I wear my hair for the first while. Maybe that will confuse it more if for months I have hair and then all of a sudden I don't. I am afraid of handling this the wrong way and damaging my bond with the baby because I am afraid of how it will react to me. I guess what this all boils down to is that I am out of my comfort zone."

Lisa: "I am not at all surprised to hear that this huge wonderful change that is about to happen in your life is also creating some concerns. In my experience people with burns can find they need more support than usual when they are going through major transitions in their life, and it does not get much bigger than this. I wonder if you also had worries when you first got together with [your husband]."

"I am very very confident that your baby is going to love you and need you from the moment he or she is born and that the physical appearance of your burns will have no effect on the bonding you will have together. Your baby is going to rely on you for its every need for quite some time and your connection will be an intimate and physical one - based on touch, warmth, smell, taste and sounds - much more than on vision. There is nothing about you to scare your baby."

"What makes you think that your baby will react to your appearance? In the past if you have felt your confidence getting a bit low what has been helpful in restoring it? How will you know if your baby loves you? How does any mother know that their baby loves them?"

"Perhaps one thing that your baby will do is to challenge how you see yourself. I imagine from what you have written that for much of your life you have experienced others as seeing your burns first and Paula second. This child is going to see you as Paula (mummy) first and your burns last."

Paula: "Thank you so much for your reply, it has made me smile and cry (I think I am hormonal), not cry in a bad way. Just reading what you said made me feel I can do this and I won't miss out on any love from my baby and I haven't felt that in a while."

"I am going to print your emails and read them in the next few weeks just to get it in to my head. When you think a certain way for a long time it takes a while to change your thought process, especially from negative to positive."

"I think I will learn an awful lot from my child, the very simple and innocent way that children view the world and the people in it always amazes me. [My husband] has been a huge challenge to how I view myself, so between the both of them I think I won't have a negative thought left about myself!! I will go for now, but I will keep you up to date in the next week and let you know our news."

I am very much looking forward to hearing how Paula and her new baby are doing over the coming months.

Emily

“Hi, I’m now 17 years old. When I was 16, I had an accident and I lost 6 fingers and both thumbs, just being left with two fingers on my right hand. I was in hospital for just over 2 months, and I’ve had 9 operations in total, so I’ve been through it this year. My hands are healing well now, but it’s going to be a long process. I’m back at sixth form studying Art and English at A-Level, so the laptop I now have from Dan’s Fund for Burns is really great and truly useful for doing all my work. Plus it is pink, which is a bonus as pink is the best colour! So I just want to say THANK YOU very much, because having this laptop has really made a huge difference to me.

Fires

We have had several calls for help from people who have suffered fires of varying kinds. In two instances, homes were totally burned down and one or two members of families were hospitalized. In these instances DFFB aided the families with emergency funding to enable them to re-establish themselves; in one instance we were able to provide emergency funding for family members, in order that they could remain at the hospital during periods of intensive care. So often burns units are at considerable distance from home, such as in another instance, when a young man was involved in an accident where his car caught fire and he was unable to escape quickly before being severely burned. He required considerable hospitalization in intensive care, and DFFB was able to assist in the transport costs for his family who had to travel great distances to be at his side.

Candles/tea lights

One case worth mentioning is that of a young lass attending a friend’s party. Tea lights were placed around, including on the balcony. At some point she began to feel warm and realized that her sleeve had caught alight from one of the candles. Before it could be stopped the upper part of her body was severely burned. This is a good warning to all to keep candles and small tea lights placed out of reach of children and areas where people might accidentally brush past them. The hospital burns units’ reports highlight many cases of burns due to these rather innocent-appearing pretty lights. TAKE CARE!

Hannan Shihab

DFFB continues to assist Hannan Shihab who is now making excellent progress. She has a baby daughter who gives enormous pleasure and Hannan, although requiring ongoing surgery, is going back to college to finish her studies.

SUPPORT GROUPS

Together with the British Burns Association we have been trying to encourage more Support Groups across the UK. As burns units are widely spread around the country, after initial treatment at hospital, patients sent home are often left at great distances from these specialized units. The need for support however is often even more important, the need to exchange experiences, talk with others who have suffered similarly is all part of the healing process. Lisa Williams and others are in the process of pulling together more information on existing Support Groups and/or similar organizations as well as encouraging new groups to be organised. As progress is made, we will try to update the website in order that those seeking such support might be able to quickly find something nearer to home.

Other Support groups you might be interested in are:

McIndoe Burns Support Group, Queen Victoria Hospital, East Grinstead - has a dedicated phone number which is 07732 295310, where there is always someone available to talk to in daylight hours. Our aim is to provide friendship, reassurance and support at a time when it is needed. This can be during the admission or after discharge. We also provide small amounts of financial support in cases of hardship. The group holds a couple of fund-raising events per year and money from these goes towards sponsoring a child through Burns Camp and we also use funds for equipment purchases or special educational needs of staff caring for this speciality.

The Manchester Burns Advisory Group provides a supportive environment for people who have suffered a range of burn injuries, and their family or friends. Advice and information on all aspects of burn aftercare is offered. Anyone who has experienced any type of burn is invited, usually at their first Scar Clinic appointment. Meetings are held on the first Wednesday of each month at 11:30 am; we have a relevant speaker on an aspect of burn rehabilitation, followed by a light lunch and discussion, finishing at 1:00 pm. If you are interested in attending, please call Cathy Read on 0161 291 6323 or the Burns Outreach office on 0161 291 6317 / 8, in order to obtain latest information. You are invited to visit the website at www.mbag.co.uk

Summer Camps for Children

Once again DFFB sponsored three children to attend these very important activities. Several camps for children surviving burns have been set up around the country, normally staffed and funded by the dedicated staff of children's burns units. These camps provide a wonderful experience for children where they can share their injuries, enhance their skills and always seem to encourage much higher self esteem, and realization that they can sometimes achieve what they thought impossible.

Hair Extensions can be successful and make an enormous difference to some burns survivors. If you are interested in finding out more, contact:

FUND-RAISING

Once again we would like to thank all our supporters. Although we did not organise any large fund-raising events this year, many people have continued to raise funds on our behalf, all of which allows us to help others so badly in need. As you have read in Polly's introduction, we are thrilled to say we have reached the £1,000,000 mark in our Fund Raising. THANK YOU each and all - your support has been phenomenal - but we still continue to need your support.

Some of the highlights have been:

Jogle 07 (John O'Groats - Lands End)

Bob Gerber, Ben Challacombe and Brandon Harris organized this amazing cycle in memory of their friend Dan who was tragically killed in the Bali Terror Attack five years ago. In memory of him and in order to support the Charity formed in the wake of this disaster, they decided to cycle the length of the country between the 21st July - 2nd August 2007, a feat of which Dan would be proud.

JOGLE 2007:

Overall Distance: 936 miles
 Total Riding Time: 59 hr 13 mins
 Average Speed: 15.9 mph
 Maximum Speed: 48.9 mph
 Total Calories: 85661

The route involved cycling more than 900 miles in 12 days starting at John o'Groats and finishing at Lands End. The route included Fort William, Glasgow, Manchester, Market Drayton, Ludlow, Ross on Wye, Chepstow, Bristol, Taunton, South Molton, Bude, Camelford, Truro and Penzance.

"Although it was a gruelling trip (particularly the uphill bits), we certainly had a lot of fun and met plenty of people on the way who were friendly and supportive. It was also an opportunity to see some beautiful and interesting parts of the country that none of us had previously visited."

The cyclists were magnificent in terms of their commitment to each other and to the challenge at hand. All their hard work, training and preparation paid off.

Integra life Sciences (who make a skin substitute called Integra) funded the hire of a support van (about £800) to transport provisions, spares, luggage and to do route finding. With banners adorning it, the van also served to advertise Dan's Fund and the endeavors of the cyclists. Barbara Gerber, Angus Harley and Oliver Harley took turns to drive. Several of the days early on were particularly challenging with hills and harsh weather. The latter part of the trip enjoyed fine weather with a particularly stunning summer's day to welcome the team to Lands End.

Some of the team at the end of the ride

The cyclists called in to visit two Burns units en route – Canniesburn Plastic Surgery and Burns Unit at Glasgow Royal Infirmary, and the Frenchay Hospital Burns Unit in Bristol. More details and photos of the trip are posted in a blog on the DFFB website, www.dansfundforburns.org

In all a total of at least £10,175 was raised which was a magnificent effort and will be used towards assisting the Canniesburn Plastic Surgery and Burns Unit in Glasgow and the Frenchay Burns unit in Bristol.

London Tonight

Many of you will have seen Polly's interview on London Tonight in July last year, commemorating the five-year anniversary of the Bali Bombings. This was a very sensitive interview in which the Charity was highlighted – congratulations to Polly for her courage and continued fight for support for all burns survivors.

OTHER FUND-RAISERS INCLUDE:

As a result of the very successful Fashion Show Luncheon held at St. George's Hill Lawn Tennis Club in 2007, the event was repeated again this March. As always, the Club looked after us extremely well and together with its beautiful surroundings provides a delightful setting, all adding to the interest and success of this enjoyable fundraising event. The clothes and lovely models were once again kindly provided by Cognac of Weybridge and much appreciated by everybody. In both instances substantial funds were raised, all contributing to the ongoing work of DFFB.

Golf Day at Sunningdale Ladies' Golf Club, 31st May 2007

Our enormous Gratitude to S.L.G.C. for allowing us to host a fourth Golf Day at Sunningdale. This was a huge success. Our forthcoming Golf Day on 29th May 2008 was oversubscribed before the end of January. The 2007 winners were Sigi Brown, Monique Bryers, Hilary Havelock from Hankley Common and Jan Porter from Hindhead Golf Clubs. A special win for them, as team leader Sigi was just back on the course with a second “new” knee. Thank you to all who participated and those who sent a donation.

A Golf/Bridge day

was held at Woking Golf Club on 13th November, which was an overwhelming success, with people on the waiting list to play. The day started with coffee and then on to golf and a shot-gun start. An excellent lunch was provided by the Club then there was an afternoon of bridge. The first prize for the joint bridge and golf score which was 5150 went to Diana Healey and Marilyn McNie, who tied with Susie Butler and Margaret Tweddle. Woking Golf Club were very supportive in every way and we believe that everyone had a wonderful day, albeit the weather was not great!

Knickers & Drawers

A charming book of Poems and Anecdotes has been written by Lesley Hawes, Sylvia Vickers and Friends. The book has been written to raise funds for Dan's Fund for Burns. Share snippets from “It's Only a Game!”, “Talking about the Weather” (can't we all do that?), “Flora and Fauna”, “Emotions”, “All about Folk” and “That's Life.” Lots of people are finding this charming book a delightful read.

The 2007 Bridge Drive, Shalford Village Hall

The Bridge Drive at the Shalford Village Hall has become a very well supported annual event, and this year we had 29 tables. An enormous thank you to all the dedicated team of helpers, who made cakes and sandwiches and produced a delicious tea for this very popular event.

The 2008 bridge drive will take place on Friday 17th October, so please put this date in your diary.

DFFB Charity Golf Day, Woking Golf Club

Tuesday 24th July 2007

Twenty teams of 4 men each took part in a four-ball Stableford competition over the long-established heathland golf course at Woking. This was arranged by Peter Derby, ably assisted by a team of volunteers from the golf club. Teams came from as far afield as Scotland and Woburn and represented both distant and neighbouring golf clubs, as well as strong support from teams drawn from the City, both active and retired.

The winning team came from HSBC Security Services followed by Lamberhurst Loonies and PricewaterhouseCoopers.

Novelty events and raffles helped swell the coffers and after a good lunch a lively auction took place. The Prizes and Auction were conducted by that well known entertainer and golf enthusiast Bernard Cribbins. In total a marvellous sum in excess of £10,000 was raised. Mark your calendars for the next Mens' Golf Day, 29th September 2009, at Woking Golf Club. Sponsors are needed; please contact:

Other Fund Raisers include:

DFFB were so pleased to be chosen by Lesley Hawes, Lady Captain of Bramley Golf Club as her charity for her Year. The Ladies' Section raised funds for which we thank them all, especially Lesley as she, Sylvia Vickers, Veronica Marchbanks and friends also published Knickers and Drawers in aid of DFFB. See page 5 for details.

A very big thank you to Sally and Roger Maddison for hosting in the spring a Clothes Sample Sale with stalls in their home. Many thanks to Henny Thorne who organised and sold Paul Harrison's spring and summer samples. Thanks to the other stall holders who travelled some distance and all our stalwart helpers.

Dan's Fund was put forward by Liz Dzwig to be the Charity for Reynolds Porter Chamberlain LLP's Christmas Concert. We thank Liz and all the company for their handsome donation.

Special thanks also to the following friends who made great efforts on behalf of DFFB - Rachel Gerber who ran the Paris Half Marathon in 2hrs 15mins, despite dreadful weather as she described: "It was pretty hellish after about 10 miles as the weather was terrible - lots of wind and rain showers, which I could have done without - and my legs were getting very tired!" Well done Rachel and thank you!

Tanya Jack participated in the Nice, France, Ironman Event; Adam Reid participated in the Heart of England Duathlon, James Beeley ran the Shakespeare Half Marathon and Julian Chamberlayne together with Ravi Bansal and Andy Lindesay bravely participated in the London Triathlon.

Andy Lindesay, Julian Chamberlayne in the London Triathlon

Mark Lloyd-Williams, a partner at Herbert Smith, joined a 19-day expedition to Climb Aconcagua in Argentina. He reached Camp I, but on returning to Base Camp the Camp Doctor evacuated him home by helicopter, as he had developed a high altitude problem. Thankfully he is safely home although very disappointed. Mark did, however, raise a very substantial sum of money for Dan's Fund – we wish him a speedy recovery and our sincere gratitude for his efforts!

Many, many others, including Corinne and David Rogers selling Christmas trees, have generously donated over the year and we can only say a huge Thank You!!! We owe a great debt of gratitude for the enormous efforts made by all.
